WASHINGTON CHOSEN

PEACE PLENIPOTENTIARIES OF RUSSIA AND JAPAN WILL MEET IN THAT CITY.

THE ONLY LOGICAL SOLUTION

NO OTHER PLACE SUGGESTED BY BELLIGERENTS PROVED TO BE AS AGREEABLE.

Washington, June 16.—America's national capital has been selected as the seat of negotiations between the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan for a treaty of peace. The choice of Washington as the location of the peace conference marks another forward step in the negotiations toward ultimate peace in the far East instituted by President Roosevelt.

Official announcement of the selection of Washington was made by Secretary Lusk at the White House Thursday as follows:

"When the two governments were unable to agree on either Chetoo or Paris, the president suggested The Hague, but both governments have now requested that Washington be chosen as the place of meeting and the president has accordingly formally notified both governments that Washington will be so selected."

This statement was supplemented shortly afterward by a semi-official announcement that "after meeting and organizing the plenipotentiaries of the two governments, if it should be found to be uncomfortable in Washington, may adjourn the meeting to some summer resort in the North and there continue their sittings until such time as the weather in Washington shall be more comfortable."

Now that some of the details of the negotiations that have been pending for more than two weeks, are known, the selection of Washington is regarded as the only logical solution of the problem presented to the belligerent governments. After the acceptance by Russia and Japan of President Roosevelt's proposition that they consent to Consider the Question of Peace, Russia indicated Paris as the most desirable place for the meeting to negotiate a treaty and Japan indicated Chetoo. There the subject rested for forty-eight hours. Finally Japan declined to consider Paris, for obvious reasons, and Russia objected to the holding of the conference in any Oriental city. Washington then was suggested as a place at which the belligerents could meet on common ground, undisturbed by either political or personal influences.

As a means of facilitating the negotiations the president suggested that the conference be held at The Hague, the seat of the international arbitration tribunal and the location of the first general arbitration conference called at the instance of Emperor Nicholas of Russia. He indicated that for both practical and sentimental reasons, The Hague would be a most desirable place of meeting for the plenipotentiaries. Further consideration of the subject developed the practically unalterable objection of Japan to any European capital as a seat for the conference. She objected particularly to The Hague, believing that it was too far within the sphere of Russian influence; and for a similar reason she declined favorably to consider Geneva. Until Thursday, however, Japan's irreconcilable opposition to the selection of any European capital was not known definitely. At a conference which Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister, had with President Roosevelt Thursday he conveyed to the president the Japanese government's final refusal to consent to the holding of the conference in Europe.

Jap Minister and Roosevelt Confer.

Minister Takahira reached the executive office at 10:45 a. m. and remained in conference for an hour and twenty-five minutes. The conference was not prearranged, but the significance of the advice which Minister Takahira bore from his government induced the president to deny himself to all callers until the conclusion of the conference. As he left the White House, the Japanese minister declined to discuss the situation in any way except to indicate that the negotiations were proceeding favorably. He added that negotiations of this character constituted "a long journey."

The refusal of Japan to agree to the holding of the conference in Europe was communicated by President Roosevelt to the Russian ambassador and likewise cabled to St. Petersburg. While the president did not act in the capacity of arbiter between Russia and Japan, he was in position, after the conference with Minister Takahira and his communication to Ambassador Cassini formally to announce the selection of Washington as the seat of the conference.

Shortly before 3 p. m. Ambassador Cassini called at the White House by appointment and was received by the president in the blue room. The president explained to the ambassador the nature of his interview with Minister Takahira and conveyed to him the personal assurance that the American government would do all in its power, which it properly might do to afford the plenipotentiaries of the two governments comfortable and convenient facilities for the transaction of their supremely important duties. Other details of the conference, which lasted half an hour, were withheld.

In view of the selection of the seat of the conference, it is expected that within a few days at most Russia and Japan will announce formally the names of their respective plenipotentiaries. It is deemed likely also that, coincidentally with the announcement of the plenipotentiaries an agreement will be reached as to the time of holding the conference, which it seems quite likely will not assemble formally before the middle of August or the first of September.

Prior to the formal assembling of the conference it is probable, if precedent be followed, that a peace protocol will be negotiated. The making of the protocol will take place before the declaration of a formal armistice. The protocol probably will be drafted and signed in Washington.

The President is Gratified.

President Roosevelt is gratified that the arrangements of a preliminary nature have been completed without undue friction. He would have preferred that the conference be held at The Hague, although the selection of Washington is naturally complimentary to him personally and to the American government. It is not expected that the selection of Washington will interfere materially with the summer plans of the president. The United States will provide a place for their meeting and it will be uninfluenced by this government. After receiving plenipotentiaries informally it is probable the president will return to Oyster Bay.

It is understood the Japanese government will not make known prior to the assembling of the plenipotentiaries the terms on which she will be willing to conclude peace. The Japanese emperor is known to desire that when peace is concluded it shall be coupled with reasonable assurances of its permanency.

Among well informed diplomats it is regarded that Japan's terms, once they are stated, will be regarded by the world as reasonable and likely to be accepted by Russia.

Minister Takahira called again at the White House shortly after 9 o'clock p. m. and remained with the president until 10 o'clock. The minister came at the request of the president, who communicated to him Russia's formal acceptance of the selection of Washington as the scene for the negotiations. No details of the conference can be obtained, but it is understood that the questions of date and of the plenipotentiaries were under discussion. Japan has indicated that she will select two plenipotentiaries and will be ready to name a third if that number is preferred. Although the president has been advised that Marquis Ito and Baron Komura and Marshal Yamagata are the three distinguished persons under consideration, the official nominations have not yet been communicated to him.

Fourth Peace Conference.

The president's fourth and last peace conference was with Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador, who reached the White House about 10 o'clock and remained with the president until after 11 o'clock. The negotiations were the main subject discussed by the president with the British ambassador. The conversation, however, touched upon Morocco and a number of other pending questions.

Desirous as is the British government for peace, the time has not yet come when as the ally of Japan she can even go to the extent of counseling moderation. Indeed, this counsel has not yet been offered because London shares the belief of Washington that Japanese terms will be entirely reasonable. Japan, while refraining from giving these terms, has shown by her general attitude that she is inclined to be moderate, although by no means weak or relenting in her conditions. What gives the officials here hope is the frank expression of the Japanese that it is not their wish to crush Russia as a nation. Once the war is over Japan will turn her face first toward internal development and a restoration of financial and industrial conditions at home to their normal basis. Encouragement to all branches of industry and commercial supremacy, rather than military supremacy alone, will be her aim.

Killed by a Street Car.

St. Paul, June 16.—W. I. Milliken, a prominent lumber merchant of Minneapolis, was struck by a street car at Prior and University avenues at 2:30 p. m. and died half an hour afterward at the Cobb hospital at Merriam Park. Coroner A. W. Miller and Dr. G. Cobb held a postmortem examination and decided that inquest is unnecessary.

SCANDAL IN CHICAGO

MOST SENSATIONAL IN THE HISTORY OF CITY MAY SOON BE MADE PUBLIC.

DISCLOSURES OF DRISCOLL

REVEALED OFFENSES SAID TO BE MORE SERIOUS THAN CONSPIRACY OR BRIBERY.

Chicago, June 16.—The greatest scandal Chicago has ever seen, according to State's Attorney Healy, is to follow the disclosures made during the day before the grand jury by John C. Driscoll, when the former secretary of the Associated Building Trades and Coal Teamowners' association revealed the entire history of the dealings between employers and union labor leaders, particularly that branch of union labor represented by the Chicago Teamsters' union.

State's Attorney Healy declares that the bribery and conspiracy charges dropped into comparative insignificance beside the accusations which have been brought to the attention of the grand jury. The state's attorney said:

"More serious offenses have been committed than bribery and conspiracy, and the evidence presented to the jury has been of an extremely sensational character. It is very important and will lead to startling results. The names mentioned by the witnesses are those of prominent men on both sides. If I thought there would be no results, from this investigation I would call a halt immediately. I believe the present line of inquiry will occupy the attention of the jury for the remainder of this week and a portion of next week, but if necessary all the docket cases will be sidetracked because of the great importance I attach to the results of the present inquiry."

Twenty or more of the prominent business men of Chicago, together with leading members of the bar, will appear before the grand jury during the day. Subpoenas for them were placed in the hands of private detectives employed by the state's attorney and it is impossible to learn the names of those for whom subpoenas have been issued. Charges, however, of a serious nature, are said to figure in the evidence, in connection with which these men have been summoned.

Driscoll the Chief Witness.

John C. Driscoll was the chief witness before the grand jury and recited what he called the history of the dealings between employers and union labor. Driscoll told how the coal teamowners had made the first joint trade agreement which provided that the owners should employ only members of the union, and that the coal teamsters' union should work for no employer not a member of the Coal Teamsters' association. The effect of this arrangement, the witness declared, was to force every coal wagon owner into the Coal Teamowners' association and every coal wagon driver into the teamsters' union. The teamowners then raised the cartage rates of coal from 30 to 50 cents a ton for short hauls and to as high as $1 a ton for longer hauls.

Driscoll took before the jury several check books, which, together with the cancelled checks, are expected to prove many charges made by him against business men and labor leaders.

It was learned late at night that one of the statements made by Driscoll to the jury was that President Shea of the teamsters' union accepted $8,000 at the time of the stockyards' strike last summer.

This strike began on July 12 and lasted for nine weeks. Driscoll says he went to Shea to see if the teamsters could not be prevented from going out on a sympathetic strike. Shea is said by Driscoll to have replied "It will cost $8,000 to keep them at work."

Driscoll declared that he paid the money to Shea, and that the labor leader was not able to prevent the men from walking out. Driscoll afterwards demanded the return of this money, and Shea declared that he had paid it over to two other men connected with the teamsters' union.

IN BIGGEST MIMIC BATTLE.

Probably Every Vessel of Admiral Dickins' Fleet Theoretically Sunk.

Fort Monroe, Va., June 16.—The biggest battle of the mimic war between the army and the navy of the United States began here exactly at 11 p. m.

Rear Admiral Dickins with practically his entire fleet made a fierce attack upon the fortifications guarding the entrance to Hampton Roads, and while it is more than likely that every ship in his fleet will be reported as having been constructively sunk deep into the waters of Chesapeake bay, his plan of battle was excellently executed and carried out in a most spectacular way.

Death Was Accidental.

Waukesha, Wis., June 16.—Mrs. Emeline A. Jones, wife of former Senator A. M. Jones, whose body was found in the Fox river during the day, met her death by accident. A boy has been found who saw Mrs. Jones fall into the water. The first reports were that on account of ill health Mrs. Jones had committed suicide.

GRAND DUKE ALEXIS RESIGNS.

High Admiral of Russian Navy Steps Down.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—The sensational announcement was made shortly before midnight that Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, who is an uncle of the emperor, and Admiral Avellan, head of the Russian admiralty department, had resigned. This announcement was followed a few minutes later by an imperial rescript relieving the grand duke of the supreme direction of the navy which he had held since the days of the emperor's father, Alexander III, when Russia resolved to enter the lists as a first-class seapower and to build up a great navy, the remnants of which were destroyed in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

Grand Duke Alexis has been savagely criticised for his administration of his admiralty office and ugly stories are now current regarding his retirement. It is probable, however, it is on account of public animosity toward him, though the reason may not be known for some time.

Seven Men Missing.

Hazleton, B. C., June 16.—Seven men are missing and have probably been drowned in the Skeena river, near Lorne creek, their upturned canoe having been found. John P. Fultz, a mining engineer of Louisville, is among the missing, who are miners.

A Dog Story.

Beerbohm Tree, the London actor, told a story of a dog named Argus which used to accompany him to the theater. The dog was of an emotional habit of mind and was greatly affected by sensational scenes. When Mr. Tree was playing in "Captain Swift" Argus used to take his place in the wing and follow his every word and look until the suicidal situation was reached. The moment Mr. Tree felt for his pistol Argus used to rush into the darkest corner he could find and, burying his head between his paws, listen for the thud of the actor's fall. After that the dog would crawl back to meet his master with a howl of joy at Mr. Tree's apparent return to life.

TRUST AGREEMENT EXECUTED.

Controlling Interest of Equitable Stock in Hands of Trustees.

New York, June 16.—Grover Cleveland, Justice Morgan J. O'Brien of the state supreme court, and George Westinghouse of Pittsburgh, trustees of the Equitable Life Assurance society, stock, formerly owned by James H. Hyde, met at the Hotel Buckingham in this city during the day. At the afternoon session, after a conference with Elihu Root and Paul Cravath, Thomas F. Ryan was sent for and a trust agreement was executed. Mr. Cleveland was elected chairman and George F. Parker secretary.

At the conclusion of the meeting at night the trust agreement with a letter from Mr. Ryan to the trustees and an appeal from Mr. Cleveland to the policyholders were made public.

Mr. Ryan's letter announces his individual ownership of the stock, and says he paid $2,500,000 for the stock from James Hazen Hyde. This stock constitutes the controlling interest in the society and it has been turned over to the trustees by Mr. Ryan for them to vote on such stock for directors of the society. Under terms of the trust agreement seven out of the thirteen directors are to be chosen annually from policyholders, who shall be first designated by the body of all policyholders of one year's standing in the society. The six remaining directors are to be elected each year by the trustees themselves. The stockholders must nominate their candidates for directors by letter to the trustees at the society's office at 120 Broadway, New York city.

OYAMA READY TO STRIKE.

May Inflict Crushing Defeat Upon Russians Before Envoys Meet.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—There only remains the fixing of the time of the meeting and the number of plenipotentiaries.

Finding that Japan was not disposed to accept Paris, which was Russia's first choice, or The Hague, which President Roosevelt suggested, Russia readily consented to the selection of Washington.

Japan, it is understood, also signified that she would name "three exalted plenipotentiaries" and they will probably be Marquis Ito, Baron Komura and Marshal Yamagata.

It is regarded as certain that two of Russia's representatives will be Baron Rosen and M. Nelidoff, ambassador at Paris. The name of M. Witte continues to be mentioned. Considering his well known views against Russia's aggressive policy in the far East the selection of M. Witte would be regarded as tantamount to an assurance that peace would be the outcome.

The selection of Washington makes it certain that several weeks must elapse before the first meeting of the negotiators is possible.

Unless President Roosevelt on his own initiative is able to induce the belligerents in the meantime to agree to an armistice, the fear is general that the interim will witness another bloody battle in Manchuria. All the news from the front indicates that Field Marshal Oyama is ready to strike, and if in advance of the meeting at Washington he could administer a crushing defeat to General Linewitch, it would be all the easier for Japan to secure the acceptance of her terms.

Advertising Pays.

In speaking of the value of advertising a representative of the Richardson Silk Co. stated to a DISPATCH representative that prior to the appointment of Mr. Michael as sole agent for their silks here his firm had over 80 mail inquiries from Brainerd ladies regarding their goods, a result of magazine advertising alone. All that time no Brainerd merchant was calling the attention of the home ladies to his line of silks. If they advertised them at all it was spasmodically and without any system. Nearly all the sending away for goods would be avoided if the home merchants impressed on the people the fact that they are best fitted to serve them with half the persistence the foreign advertiser does.

MORE RESIGNATIONS
FOLLOW LATEST DEVELOPMENTS
IN GOOD GOVERNMENT FIGHT
AT PHILADELPHIA.
IN HEARING OF F. H. CAVEN
SOME EVIDENCE OF A DECIDEDLY
SENSATIONAL CHARACTER IS SUBMITTED.
Philadelphia, June 16.—There were highly interesting developments during the day in Mayor Weaver's crusade for good government. The fight against the trolley franchises was for the moment forgotten in the light of what developed at the hearing of Select Councilman Frank H. Caven, who is charged with violating his councilmanic oath by being interested in city contracts. During the hearing it was shown that Insurance Commissioner L. W. Durham, the leader of the Republican organization in this city, is a partner in the McNichol firm of city contractors. It was also shown that while James P. McNichol, who is now a state senator and one of the local Republican leaders, was in city councils, the McNichol firm consisted of Durham, Mrs. James P. McNichol, John M. Mack and Daniel J. McNichol, a brother of James P. McNichol. It was also shown that after James P. McNichol left councils his wife withdrew from the firm and that her place was taken by himself.
Other evidence of a sensational character was to the effect that a secret agreement existed between Councilman Caven and his father, trading as James Caven & Son, and another firm in which they agreed that no contract should be entered into by either of the parties with the McNichol firm or other firm doing work on the city's filtration system without the written consent of both parties.
As a result of what developed at the hearing, Mayor Weaver late in the day accepted the resignation of John W. Hill, chief engineer of the bureau of filtration, and also that of his son, Henry W. Hill, who was assistant to his father. The resignations were sent to the mayor to take effect June 30, but they were accepted to take effect immediately. Chief Hill was the highest salaried official in the city, his compensation being $12,000 a year.
Work on Filtration System Stopped.
Simultaneously with the acceptance of the resignations all work on the city's filtration system was ordered stopped. The office of Chief Hill was placed in charge of Assistant Director of Public Works Hicks and the city's offices at the filtration plants were put in charge of detectives with instructions to permit no one to remove any records or other documents.
The filtration system has cost the city about $22,000,000 and it will take upwards of $5,000,000 more to complete the work. The McNichol firm has had contracts for about three-quarters of the work.
Contrary to expectations the meeting of city councils was an entirely harmonious affair, with Mayor Weaver in undisputed control of the situation. The committee on the street railways decided to report favorably the bills repealing the ordinances giving the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company the right to lay tracks on 110 miles of streets without compensation to the city and when the repealers were presented in councils they were, under the rules, laid over for printing, and will be acted upon at another meeting.

The United States civil service commission, backed by President Roosevelt, is investigating one phase of the local political situation, although it is denied that its inquiry has anything to do with current events in the local political world. The commission is inquiring into the case of Clarence Meser, deputy internal revenue collector for this district, and Mrs. Elenora Park, an employee of the United States mint. Meser was accused of election frauds along with Samuel Salter. He was a fugitive from justice, but returned and was not convicted.
POR SHOOTING A FARMER.
Sixteen-Year-Old Minnesota Youth Is Placed in Jail.
Wabasha, Minn., June 16.—John Kirtz, living thirteen miles south of here, brought his sixteen-year-old boy to this city and asked the sheriff to lock him up in the county jail here so as to save him from the fury of a mob of citizens.
The Plainview Telephone company was setting poles on the highway that passed over Kirtz' land and he objected. The foreman ordered them to proceed. Joseph Tusaus, the farmer to whose residence the line was to run, was one of the crew and he started to obey orders when young Kirtz fired on him with a 32-caliber rifle from a clump of bushes. Tusaus fell severely, though perhaps not fatally, wounded. Kirtz is in jail.
Secretary Hay at New York.
New York, June 16.—Secretary of State John Hay arrived from Europe at night on the steamer Baltic, much improved in health, but plainly showing that he was far from being a well man. An imposing and long document was delivered to him at quarantine by a special messenger from the White House.

Philadelphia, June 16.—Beldame was crowned queen of the American turf when she won the twenty-second Suburban handicap in the afternoon at Sheephead Bay. She was the second mare to capture the classic, Imp being the first in 1899. The grand four-year-old daughter of Octagon and Belledonna, wearing the scarlet jacket of August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club, lowered the colors of James R. Keene's Delhi almost without being extended, until near the end of the mile and one-quarter journey. Delhi was the public favorite at 2½ to 1, but the winner was heavily played around 3 to 1.
The favorite shot away in front at the start and Beldame dogged his steps like a shadow throughout the first mile. Then he lagged and the Belmont colors flashed to the front. Delhi's fate was quickly settled and he fell back with the ruck. First Mason, in a nice position all the way, slipped into second place but was passed in the last few jumps by Proper. Beldame's victory was comparatively an easy one, after Delhi had been disposed of.

Royal Wedding at Windsor.
